First Steps in Project-Based Learning

April 28, 2021 • 2:00 pm - 3:00 pm cst

Are you interested in project-based learning but not sure where to start? Project-based learning is a transformative pedagogical method based on student-centered classrooms, but it requires teachers to adjust how they present information and facilitate learning.

This IDRA webinar will answer some of the most common questions about planning, implementation and best practices for project-based learning. Learn how to transform your teaching to better support your student's learning.

This webinar is part of the IDRA EAC-South's free webinar series on Equitable Practices for Online Learning.
